Polly gives away birthday money

Youngster's gift will help cleft palate work in India

By SOPHIA RAHMAN

A kind-hearted seven-year-old girl sacrificed her birthday money to fund a relative's charity trip.

Carolyn Harrison said she was 'gobsmacked' when niece Polly handed over the £110 towards her trip to Nagpur, a poverty-stricken part of India.

Ahead of her birthday, the Avondale Primary School pupil told her mother, Zoe Harrison, she wanted to sponsor an impoverished child in the developing world, after being moved by a campaign advert.

The family couldn't afford the full amount for sponsorship, but when Polly's aunt told her she would be going to India to aid in corrective surgery on people born with cleft palates, the caring youngster wanted to help.

Polly recognised the affliction as her grandfather has a scar from having his cleft palate fixed as a boy.

Zoe said: "Polly has always been older than her years. She recognises injustice, and questions when she thinks something isn't fair.

"She's always known that her granddad's got a cleft palate too. So when she realised she could do something to help, she asked all her friends to give her money for her birthday, instead of presents."

Nurse Carolyn, who works at the Royal Blackburn Hospital, is looking to raise £1,500 so she can travel to the subcontinent to work on operations with the Northern Cleft Foundation. She will be working 12-hour shifts with other med-ical professionals, volunteering to perform surgeries on people of all ages for ten days.

She said: "Polly's a very bright girl. When she said she would give her birthday money to charity, we never really expected her to. When she offered me the money I was gobsmacked. At first, I wasn't sure whether to take it as it could be taking advantage, but she would have been more upset had I refused. But £110 is such a lot of money, especially for a seven-year-old girl.

"She has always been very kind and clever."

CARING: Polly Harrison hands over her birthday money to her auntie Carolyn, who is a nurse

Cancer battler Sam touches hearts

The mum of young cancer sufferer Sam Shaw, from Hoddlesden, says she has been 'overwhelmed' by the response to an appeal to raise enough money to send him to America for treatment to help save his life.

Memorial service for cricketing stalwart

A memorial service is to be held for a cricketing stalwart who died aged 88.

Arthur Shaw, from Roe Lee Park, Blackburn, was the president of the Ribblesdale League. He lost his battle with cancer earlier this month. The league is planning to celebrate his life with a service at St Gabriel's Church, in Brownhill Drive, on May 7, at 2pm.

Talk on benefactor

A coffee morning tomorrow (Thursday) is to feature an illustrated talk about James Dixon, the founder of Blackburn Orphanage. Historian Harriet Roberts will give the talk on one of Blackburn's best-loved benefactors. The coffee morning will run from 10.30am until noon, at Blackburn Library.

Partytime, by George

Groups are being urged to join in a St George's Day celebration in Darwen. The event, on Saturday, April 20, will take place from 11am to 4pm in the Market Square.

Interested groups, or charities, can email Coun East at jeast@darwentowncouncil.org.uk

Photos to go on show

The annual exhibition of Darwen Camera Club will begin on Saturday, March 30. Darwen Library will host the club's favourite pictures over the last year in its main exhibition room.

Appeal fund for cancer battler

£11k raised so far to send Sam to US for treatment

By LAWRENCE DUNHILL

The mum of young cancer sufferer Sam Shaw has been 'overwhelmed' by all the support being offered to help send him to America for treatment to help save his life.

More than £11,000 has so far been raised for the four-year-old, who is fighting for his life after been diagnosed with high-risk neuroblastoma, an aggressive cancer that affects the nerve cells.

Sam, from Hoddlesden, was suffering from a high temperature last week, and needed treatment at the Royal Blackburn Hospital, but mum Christine said the support for his appeal is helping him recover.

She said: "We are really really pleased with all the support. It's been overwhelming.

"On Thursday night we ended up with Sam going to hospital because he had a high temperature, but he's had some antibiotics and is stabilising now and he's doing all right."

To increase Sam's chance of survival by 20per cent, the family need to raise £250,000 by June, to access treatment only available in the US.

Several fundraisers have been organised after our sister newspaper, the Lancashire Telegraph, featured Sam's story earlier this month,

Hoddlesden Conservative Club raised more than £600 at a St Patrick's Day event, while Darwen Vale High School PTFA will donate proceeds of its 'Lion King' show raffles.

Staff, parents and children at Barnabas House Private Nursery, where Sam is a pupil, are doing a sponsored walk at Jumbles Country Park on April 13, and Darwen Golf Club is staging a fundraiser on April 19.

And a group of youngsters are planning to climb Catbells, in the Lake District. Godmother Clare Leadley is among a group gearing up for a 10,000ft skydive on Easter Monday, while printing company Inkthreadable are printing some official appeal T-shirts.If you want to organise an event, call Nikki O'Sullivan at Neuroblastoma Alliance UK, on 0208 2029065. To donate, visit: www.justgiving.com/SamShawAppeal

TARGET: £250,000 is needed to send Sam for treatment

Pipe band to fly flag in New York

By EMMA CRUCES

The world's oldest civilian pipe band are to represent East Lancashire on the streets of New York.

Accrington Pipe Band have been invited to parade in Manhattan next month, and also lead remembrances to British victims of September 11.

The band, which was formed in 1885, will be wearing full 'Number Ones' uniform dress regalia as they take part in New York's Tartan Week, which features parades and events during the first week of April.

Accrington Pipe Band will be Lancashire's sole representative in the event, which will see tartan-clad bands from around the world march through the centre of Manhattan.

The group, led by Pipe Major Trevor Stokes, have also been asked to lead moving remembrances to victims of terrorism, with a very special performance on Friday, April 5.

Tartan Week organisers have asked Accrington Pipe Band to perform a special concert in the memorial garden to the 67 British victims of the September 11 attacks.

Dignitaries will watch as Accrington Pipe Band play in the Queen Elizabeth II Garden, in the heart of Lower Manhattan.

Band secretary Val Stokes said: "Performing in memory of the September 11 victims will be so moving and it is an honour for us. I am sure there will be many tears shed, and we intend for it to be an event everyone can be proud of."

The following day the group will march with tartan-clad bands from around the globe along 6th Avenue, on Saturday, April 6.

Val said: "We're so excited to be flying the flag for Accrington, Lancashire and England right in the heart of Manhattan.

"We are the world's oldest civilian pipe band and the history we are bringing to the event has the Americans very excited.

"We already feel like we are old friends after many exchanges with the organisers.

"Marching through the centre of New York is not something we do every day.

"Everyone is buzzing with excitement and we can't wait to show our banner bearing 'Accrington' for the world to see.

"My husband is the Pipe Major and I know he will be so proud to lead our incredible band in this event."

Ofsted report shows school's progress

A junior school is celebrating after its latest Ofsted monitoring inspection found it was making good progress.

Hawthorns Junior School, in St James Road, Blackburn was given a notice to improve in June 2012.

But since then, SATs results have almost doubled, with 72 per cent of pupils achieving level four or better in maths and English in the summer.

Co-headteacher John Lawson said: "It is a tribute to our wonderful pupils and the fantastic efforts of teachers, and other adults in the school, and we feel honoured to be part of such a developing success story."

The school has been told it must still raise pupils' attainment and accelerate their progress in order to improve their achievement.

New wraning on mini motos

Police in Darwen have launched a crackdown on mini motos being ridden in public places after complaints from the public.

Unlicensed mini motos, mopeds, motorised scooters and quad bikes being used in places such as footpaths and pavements, and in play areas and parks, have become a 'major problem', according to a councillor.

The police have issued a warning after seizing a mini moto from a 15-year-old boy who was spotted riding around the Ellenshaw Estate.

The boy was given a police warning and the bike will be crushed.

Sudell councillor Roy Davies said mini motos had become a nuisance in the area as police have targeted parts of the ward in recent months, especially the St James estate.

SEIZED: The mini moto ridden by a 15-year-old boy

He said: "It is a massive issue around here.

"And it isn't just the kids riding round at high speeds.

"People have been going round on them late at night making a racket.

"There have also been a few burnt out ones in the area recently.

"On Olive Lane park, the grass is all messed up from people riding around on there. People know who it is going out riding these things and, before someone gets killed, they must tell the police."

According to law, a mini moto must be DVLA registered, road taxed and have a valid MOT to be ridden on the road.

The rider must also be aged 17 or over (16 for mopeds), hold a valid driving licence, wear a helmet, and have the necessary insurance to ride on the road.

PCSO Ros Mcinulty said: "With the spring approaching, there may be even more of these bikes around and we want to be sure everyone understands exactly where they can be ridden safely and without breaking the law.

"Anyone caught riding a mini moto illegally could see the bike seized and crushed.

"Riders could also face court proceedings, a fine and points on their licence, even if they are too young to hold a licence when the offence takes place."

Anyone with concerns about the illegal, or dangerous, use of mini motos, or any kind of motorcycle, in public areas can contact police on 101, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Retailer unveils big revamp

By EMMA CRUCES

Retail giant Debenhams has unveiled a multi-million pound refurbishment and extension of its store in Blackburn.

An additional 4,700sq ft of shopping space has been created, with an expansion into three adjacent units in The Mall Blackburn.

The new cosmetics and jewellery hall are part of a range of improvements Debenhams is undertaking this year, which will include an enlarged store entrance, new flooring, lighting, and internal finishes.

Bucks fizz and chocolates were handed out to customers last Friday, who got the first glimpses of the revamped Dior, Estee Lauder and Clinique counters.

As well as relocating and refurbishing the existing beauty houses, Debenhams has also introduced three new beauty brands – Urban Decay, Benefit and Bare Minerals.

Store manager Matt Cooper said he was delighted to reveal the new-look store to customers. He said: "People are loving the new cosmetics hall.

"Many customers have already told me there's no need to drift out to Preston to get their make-up any more.

"With the beauty hall relaunch there's a real buzz among colleagues.

"We're confident customers are going to love the new, and improved, shopping experience.

"The investment demonstrates a real commitment to Blackburn, and hopefully shows our customers we're as loyal to them as they are to us."

INVESTMENT: Manager Matt Cooper helps Lucy Crook and Rachael Varo prepare for the opening

Wonderful Things

Blackburn Museum & Art Gallery

As one of the first museums to open outside of London in 1874, Blackburn Museum and Art Gallery houses a rich and fascinating collection of paintings, Japanese woodblock prints, Christian icons and medieval manuscripts.

Children will delight at the collection of bugs (hidden under velvet cloths), the Egyptian Mummy dating from 1AD and the secret storey that is the Explorers' Gallery.

Address: Museum Street, Blackburn BB1 7AJ

Admission: NT FREE, £4 adults, £3 concessions, accompanied children FREE
Opening times: 12-5pm Weds-Sun from 23 March – 3 Nov 2013

Haworth Art Gallery

This Arts and Crafts style mansion was built for brother and sister William and Anne Haworth in 1909 and left to the people of Accrington in 1920. It is home to the largest collection of brilliantly coloured Tiffany Glass in Europe, all thanks to a local boy who went to find fame and fortune in America.

Tiffany vases, mosaics and tiles are all on display along with the art collection of William and Anne Haworth.

Address: Manchester Road, Accrington BB5 2JS
Phone: 01254 233782
Admission: FREE
Opening times: 12-5pm Weds-Fri, 12-4.30pm Sat/Sun

Helmshore Mills Textile Museum

Made up of two mills, Higher Mill and Whitaker's Mill, Helmshore Mills Textile Museum tells both the story of wool and cotton and how they defined the history of the valley for almost 200 years.

Visit the Devil Hole, one of the most dangerous places to work in the mill and see a demonstration of the amazing cotton spinning machines in action.

Address: Holcombe Road, Helmshore, Rossendale BB4 4NP

Queen Street Mill Textile Museum

Built in 1894, Queen Street Mill Textile Museum is the last surviving, operational steam powered mill in the entire world. Owned by workers co-operative 'The Queen Street Manufacturing Company', the mill is a time capsule of the late Victorian age. It has an engine called 'Peace', named in honour of the locals who lost their lives during the first world war.

Come and see Queen Street Mill's vast weaving shed, so impressive it featured in a scene from Oscar winning film 'The King's Speech'.

Address: Harle Syke, Burnley BB10 2HX

'Funnily, I'd said it was filth for years!'

Actor Jon Cryer first found fame as Duckie in teen movie Pretty In Pink. These days he's better known as Alan in hit US comedy Two And A Half Men.

60 SECONDS WITH ... JON CRYER

THE 10TH SEASON OF TWO AND A HALF MEN IS AIRING IN THE UK AND THE US. CAN YOU GIVE AWAY ANYTHING THAT'S COMING UP?

Well, Ashton Kutcher's character, Walden, is finding a new love interest where you least expect it - and no, it's not Alan! So, that's kind of exciting. Alan, however, will not be getting a new love interest.

IS THERE ANYTHING YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE HAPPEN TO YOUR CHARACTER?

I have never been informed of where the show was going. Chuck Lorre, who runs the show, has never in 10 years told me the overarching arc of my character, and I kind of like that. It's been such a pleasure seeing where the show goes.

WERE YOU WORRIED HOW FANS WOULD REACT WHEN CHARLIE SHEEN LEFT THE SHOW?

I was certainly concerned about how the fans would take it. We've had an incredibly loyal fanbase all these years, who have been through all kinds of craziness. God bless them - more craziness than any TV show fans should ever be put through, but they've stuck around.

TWO AND A HALF MEN CAN BE QUITE RUDE. ARE YOU EVER SURPRISED AT HOW MUCH YOU GET AWAY WITH?

Oh my God, it's filthy! There was a big brouhaha in the States when Angus T Jones, the actor who has played my son for all these years, came out and said the show was filth. And I said, 'I've been saying that for years!' But I meant it as a compliment. It has been cheerfully risque for a long time now.

Lucy's home town gig

MAIN STAGE: Lucy Zirins

Melodically sparkling and rhythmically enticing, there is so much to commend Chasing Clocks, the newly-released debut album by Burnley songstress Lucy Zirins.

Her dozen, self-penned songs bound out of the traps and are forged with a heady mix of folk, country, soul and blues.

And it promises to be a golden year for the young singer who will share the stage with Wishbone Ash and The Zombies at the 25th Burnley International Rock and Blues Festival, in May.

"I was a 14-year-old when my dad took me to the festival and I saw Michael Roche, the blues singer, perform," recalled Lucy, who studied music at Nelson and Colne College.

"I turned to dad and said, 'I'm going to be on that stage one day.'

"A few years later I sang at an open mic session and Michael got in touch, offering me a European Blues scholarship which helped my career.

"To be singing on the main stage at my home town festival makes me so proud because it has played such a big part in my early life."

Produced by her mentor Michael Messer, one of the world's finest slide guitarists, unusually the album was recorded on an eight-track reel-to-reel tape, without the use of any computers, or digital equipment.

"The album is exactly how I wanted it, a natural and warm sound and a melting pot of the many types of music I love," said Lucy.

"Certainly, to have amazing musicians like Richard Causon, BJ Cole, who has worked with Elton John and Joan Armatrading, and Emily Burridge perform on the album was incredible because they're people I've always admired."

Lucy, who began gigging when she was 15, said: "I've given up my job and I'm doing this full-time now. I've been astonished by the reaction I've had to the album. I've just had my first review, which was really good thankfully, so it is a very exciting time."

■ Lucy Zirins plays the Burnley Rock and Blues Festival at Burnley Mechanics on Sunday, May 5. Details from 01282 664411.
